... Ann Landers

he's sneaking behind his wife's back trying to re-establish the affair with you.

If you want to louse up your life thoroughly, just take up with this scoundrel again. He's just the guy who can do it.

Dear Ann: Your suggestion for the mother whose two kids almost kill each other in the back seat of the car whenever the family takes a trip was something less than civilized.

Parents who must spank children confess that they have no imagination. It's easy to hit a youngster. It takes control and brains to figure out a peaceful solution.

It's understandable that two young ones get bored enough on a long trip that they may begin to fight. The parents should then put one child in front with Dad, while Mom sits in back with the other. Then change. In this way, Dad can point out spots of interest, and so can Mom, and everybody will have a better time.—THE PACIFIST.

Dear Pacifist: Your suggestion is an excellent one, and should be tried for variation, but not as a substitute for discipline.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
